reference to date and age, essentially act as if $\nexists$ no age differences.

Still tell stories in the past but don't date or age them w/ numbers and don't tell a lot of past stories. Keep mostly in the present tense or immediate past.

Act as if $\nexists$ age difference to a large extent ie don't explain age because it's not important - it is irrelevant.

Its importance is only for social control

Marriage

Here comes the groom Being led to his doom.
Look at his stupid smile
As he walks down the aisle.
Thinking he's changed his fate
With a sack of rice & a cake (Soon his wife will be hanging the milkmaiden While his suffering cardiac arrest ^{he} is in den) Wait till her belly swells
And the house is full of yell
Oh what a cute little daughter I'll pick her before she's older

In the day the promise of greatness ... but at night - ~~but at night~~ - only the bitterness of insignificance.

I want that it doesn't matter what kind of hell I have to go thru to get it, the disapproval, don't matter. I want that
